

Terror powers expose 'tyranny'

Terror powers expose 'tyranny' The Lord Chancellor has defended government plans to introduce control orders to keep foreign and British terrorist suspects under house arrest, where there isn't enoug...

Read more...

Scissor Sisters triumph at Brits

Scissor Sisters triumph at Brits US band Scissor Sisters led the winners at the UK music industry's Brit Awards, walking off with three prizes. The flamboyant act scored a hat-trick in the internatio...

Read more...

Minimum wage increased to B£5.05

Minimum wage increased to B£5.05 The minimum wage will rise in October, benefiting more than 1m people, the government has announced. Adults must be paid at least B£5.05 an hour, up from B£4.85, whi...

Read more...

Losing yourself in online gaming

Losing yourself in online gaming Online role playing games are time-consuming, but enthralling flights from reality. But are some people taking their fantasy lives too seriously? When video game Wor...

Read more...

Kilroy launches 'Veritas' party

Kilroy launches 'Veritas' party Ex-BBC chat show host and East Midlands MEP Robert Kilroy-Silk said he wanted to "change the face of British politics" as he launched his new party. Mr Kilroy-Silk, wh...

Read more...